Subject: No deals

Hello,

I would like to express my outrage about the outcome of the anti-trust case against Microsoft. I believe that they need to be dealt with in a much harsher way. If the current decisions are the example of how this is to be handled they are not going to solve anything. Microsoft has thumbed its proverbial nose at the United States Department of Justice by choosing to perform more extreme versions of its anti-trust behaviour with the release of the Windows XP operating system. They have done the same thing that they did with the Internet Explorer browser software and Windows '98, just with a much larger variety of software this time. This company needs to be stopped from doing anything like this again and they should not be allowed to decide their own fate. Their choices will cement their stronghold in the market more than they have already entrenched themselves. Please, make the right decision and do not let these injustices continue.

Thank You,
Erik Snyder
